Full Job Description

Job Overview: We are seeking a highly organized and proactive Personal Assistant to support our CEO in a fast-paced environment. The ideal candidate will possess exceptional clerical skills and a strong ability to manage multiple tasks efficiently. This role requires a professional demeanor, excellent phone etiquette, and the ability to maintain confidentiality while handling sensitive information. This job involves a fair amount of driving the CEO and his family for errands, school, lessons, etc.

Responsibilities

- Manage the CEO's Outlook Calendar, scheduling appointments and coordinating meetings.
 - Provide clerical support including data entry, filing, and proofreading documents.
 - Assist in office management tasks to ensure smooth daily operations.
 - Handle phone calls with professionalism, addressing inquiries and relaying messages as necessary.
 - Organize and plan events, ensuring all details are executed flawlessly.
 - Maintain an organized filing system for both physical and digital documents.
 - Prepare reports and presentations as required by the CEO.
 - Act as a liaison between the CEO and other team members or external contacts.

Qualifications

- Proven experience as a Personal Assistant or in a similar administrative role.
 - Proficiency in Microsoft Office Suite, particularly Outlook Calendar.
 - Strong organizational skills with the ability to prioritize tasks effectively.
 - Excellent written and verbal communication skills.
 - Attention to detail with strong proofreading abilities.
 - Experience in event planning is highly desirable.
 - Ability to maintain confidentiality and exercise discretion at all times.
 - A proactive approach to problem-solving with strong decision-making capabilities.

Experience Required

- Personal Assistant/Executive Assistant: 1 year (Required)

Ability to Commute

- Sherman Oaks, CA 91423 (Required)

Significance to Case Documentation

Note: This is the original Indeed job listing that Brandon Rose was hired under. Key observations:

1. Title: “Personal Assistant to CEO” — hired at 25–30/hour for clerical/driving duties
2. Actual role evolved to: “Special Projects” — building software, APIs, automation systems, training employees, managing operations across 42+ properties in multiple states
3. Job description includes driving CEO and his family — this is a personal assistant/chauffeur role, not a technology/operations role
4. No mention of: software development, API building, automation, property management operations, training other employees, building investor portals, or any of the actual work Brandon performs

5. Pay listed: 25—30/hour for a 40-hour week = 52, 000—62,400/year for what was described as a clerical/driving role
6. The gap between this job description and Brandon's actual contributions demonstrates significant scope creep without corresponding compensation adjustment, supporting claims of broken promises regarding pay increases
7. "7 people quit in 8 months" before Brandon was hired for this role — the listing was posted repeatedly

This document serves as evidence of what Brandon was hired to do versus what he actually does, supporting arguments about:

- Undercompensation relative to actual duties
- Broken promises about role advancement and pay increases
- The company's knowledge that the role (as described) was untenable under Marc's management
