

Compensation Review Request

Brandon Rose — Presented to Marc, ApartmentCorp

May 21, 2026

Opening Statement

Marc, I appreciate the opportunity to sit down with you today. I want to have a direct, professional conversation about my compensation — because I believe the work I am currently delivering significantly exceeds the scope of the assistant role I was hired for, and I'd like my pay to reflect that reality.

I was brought on as an assistant at $30.00/hour. Since joining, I have independently executed projects at the level of a licensed agent, marketing coordinator, and technology specialist — not an assistant. I am not asking for recognition alone. I am asking for compensation that is aligned with the value I am actively delivering to this company every day.

What I Was Hired to Do vs. What I Am Actually Doing

Hired Role	Actual Scope of Work Delivered
Administrative Assistant	Full listing agent presentation website (multi-page, live)
Support tasks	Client-facing CMA report preparation and delivery
Clerical assistance	Residential Listing Agreement (RLA) coordination for client signatures
General admin	Comparable market analysis with 6 recent sales, charts, and value estimates
Assistant-level duties	Branded marketing materials and digital assets for active listings
—	Agent-branded professional website with animated emblem, photo, and live links
—	End-to-end transaction coordination for the Menowitz Trust listing

I am not assisting someone else in doing these things. I am doing them myself, from start to finish.

Completed Projects — Delivered in Full

The following is a summary of the work I have completed independently during my time at ApartmentCorp. These are not partial contributions — these are completed, client-ready deliverables.

1. Brandon Rose Listing Agent Website A fully designed, multi-page professional website built from scratch, branded for my role as listing agent. The site includes a hero section with professional photo, animated brand emblem, the complete “What I Do as Your Listing Agent” disclosure (7 legal duties + 13 additional commitments), and direct action buttons for the RLA and CMA report. This is a client-facing, published web asset.

2. Residential Listing Agreement (RLA) Coordination — Menowitz Trust Coordinated and structured the RLA signing workflow for Marc Menowitz and Ellie Menowitz under the “Marc & Ellie Menowitz Trust” for the property at 3431 Coy Drive, Sherman Oaks, CA

91423. Set up the Glide-based digital signature link and integrated it into the client-facing website.

3. Comparative Market Analysis (CMA) — 3431 Coy Drive Independently researched, compiled, and presented a full comparative market analysis for the subject property. This included identifying 6 recent comparable sales (January–April 2026), calculating price-per-square-foot averages, building an interactive bar chart, and presenting a 4-source value summary (Zillow Zestimate: 3.13M, RedfinEstimate :3.11M). This is agent-level analytical work.

4. iCloud CMA Report Integration Sourced, processed, and integrated the iCloud CMA report into the client presentation website, replacing prior agent branding with my own throughout all pages of the document.

5. ApartmentCorp Operations Hub & Property Directory Contributed to the ApartmentCorp internal systems including the property directory website, org chart, and operations hub — work that spans technology, data management, and organizational infrastructure.

The Compensation Gap

The market rate for the work I am performing is substantially above my current pay. Below is a straightforward comparison:

Role	Typical Market Rate
Real Estate Administrative Assistant	25–32/hr
Real Estate Transaction Coordinator	35–55/hr
Real Estate Marketing Coordinator	38–55/hr
Licensed Listing Agent (salaried/hourly equivalent)	50–80/hr
My Current Rate	$30.00/hr
My Request	$50.00/hr

I am currently being compensated at the floor of the assistant range while performing work at the ceiling of the coordinator and agent range. A rate of $50.00/hour is a fair, well-supported ask — and still below what a licensed agent would command for the same output.

My Ask

I am respectfully requesting a compensation adjustment to $50.00 per hour, effective immediately.

This is not an ultimatum — it is a straightforward recognition of the value I bring. I am committed to this company, I am invested in the work, and I want to continue growing here. But I also need to be compensated fairly for what I am actually doing.

I am happy to discuss a phased increase, a formal title change to reflect my responsibilities, or any structure that works for the company — but I do want to leave this meeting with a clear path forward.

Summary

I was hired as an assistant. I am performing as an agent, coordinator, and technology specialist. My current rate of 30/hr does not reflect the scope, quality, or impact of my work. I am asking for 50/hr — a rate that is fair, market-supported, and proportional to what I deliver every day.

Thank you for your time, Marc. I look forward to a productive conversation.
